Joe Vaughan

Will Accompany Glass Chorale

Joe Vaughan, a student at ACHS has been chosen to accompany the E. C. Glass chorale on the guitar. The chorale is a thirty voice group chose from the 250 chorus. Joe was a member of the chorale before he enrolled at ACHS. He accompanied the chorale when they were in concert at Lynchburg College on Monday evening for the annual banquet of the Greater Lynchburg Chamber of Commerce. He will perform with the group for an audience of one thousand G. E. executives at Caves Spring High School in Salem on Saturday evening.

The chorale will perform for many churches and civic organizations during the Spring season.

Joe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Franklin Vaughan. He was chosen as student director of the Sandusky Jr. High School band and played the oboe and percussion instruments.

Sergeant Thanks Red Cross For Help With Trip

Sergeant E-8 Herbert Otto-way Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Martin of Appomattox, has returned to Vietnam after 40 days leave here with his wife Irene; son, Alvin, and the Jack Martins.

Sergeant Martin has about two more months duty to complete in Vietnam before assignment to Nashville, Tennessee.

He says he is very grateful to the American Red Cross for assistance recently so that he could return to the states at the time of his wife's father's death T. H. Buck Trent) and for other assistance during his 18 year career in the Army.

WHY BOTHER?

Dorothy W. Davidson, assistant to Dr. S. R. Lawson, says, "I've heard a lot of people say they don't bother to donate blood because if they ever need it they'll buy it. The only trouble with that is, you can't buy it unless somebody has donted it first. If they haven't, you can't buy it at any price.

"That's why I'll be donating mine when the Bloodmobile is here on April 6, so if I or any member of my family ever need it, it will be there. And we won't have to buy it, either. Not with the Red Cross Program we have here in Appomattox."

Spring Mills Museum Sold

Mary Eloise Turner (above), artist, nature lover and developer and manager of Spring Mills Museum, Gay '90's Gift Shop and a flower-decked Nature Trail at the southwestern edge of Appomattox County, has announced the sale of the old flour mill and surrounding buildings. Spring Mills, in operation from the 1800's until 1957, has been a tourists' attraction since 1965 when Mrs. Turner moved here from Santa Barbara, California. She opened the museum on July 1, 1967. Many of the exhibits there of farm tools and antiques were or were from neighbors and friends. Mrs. Turner holds in her hand a copy of "Captain Staunton's River" by Herman Ginther of Brookneal, which includes a history of Spring Mills on Falling River. No details have been released as to the new owner's plans for the property.
